Noonway is how the Chief of the West Shore Nation says "hello", "AWESOME!". It's how Dads, Guides, and Princesses greet each other whenever they meet - not only at camp or an event, but often on the schoolbus or at the grocery store when you come across each other. It represents those times when kids and dads bonded and grew together and escaped from the everyday noise that so often separates us. Noonway is the word that instantly brings us back to campfires, horseback rides, canoe trips, and climbing walls. It represents the time when we shared a s'more with our newest friend or found a turtle wandering on our path down to our next adventure. It's the word that brings a smile to our face every time we hear it. and the word we look forward to hearing!
